

TOLLER CLUB OF GREAT BRITAIN

Rescue Program

Occasionally, Nova Scotia Duck Tolling Retrievers need a helping hand when their owners can no longer keep them, for many and various reasons.

This precious breed is still rare in the United Kingdom, and as members of this Club, we will do our utmost to ensure that any Tollers finding themselves in need of a new home will be helped by us.

Initially, the original breeder, if identifiable, will be contacted to see if they can take the dog back or assist the Club in the re-homing.

If this is not possible, the dog will be placed at Danehaven Kennels in Norfolk where it will be assessed. Once this has been done, an honest account of the most suitable type of home required will be generated. During this time Club funds will be used to cover feed, veterinary & any rehabilitation required.

If you wish to donate money to the Toller Club of Great Britain's rescue program, please visit the rescue section of our website where details on how to donate are given.

We will post any information on Tollers in rescue that are available for rehoming on our website in this section and on the forum along with any other suitable agencies.

If you have a Toller (or know of one) in need of help or re-homing, please don't hesitate to contact the Club's rescue coordinator Christine Goldspink either by phone (07765 496354) or by email: christine.goldspink@thetollerclub.org.uk. Your call will be dealt with in complete confidentiality.

We have produced an Information Leaflet aimed primarily at rescue centres to inform them, and anyone else, of the looks and attributes of the Nova Scotia Duck Tolling Retriever. This is available on our website : www.thetollerclub.org.uk.
